ARTS WIN CLOSE CONTEST IN INTER-FACULTY MEET

Osterland Captures Individual Championship—Initiation Events Between Frosh and Sophs Add Zest to University Day

In a contest unparalleled for closeness in the annals of University track sports, the Arts faculty won the second annual inter-faculty track meet over Commerce at the stadium on Thursday. At no time during the meet was it certain which of the three faculties, Arts, Commerce or Science, would capture first place, and only in the last relay, in which Arts secured second and Commerce third place, did the Arts secure the lead necessary to nose out Commerce.

The standing of the faculties according to points was as follows: Arts, 53 points; Commerce, 32½ points; Science, 30 points; Law, 16 points; Medicine, 12 points; Dent, and Pharmacy, 6½ points; Agriculture, 4 points.

In spite of leaden skies and weather well below freezing, the meet was well attended, "punch" being added by the Freshmen, who, decked in their initiation costume of pajama shirts and Varsity rah-rah caps, rendered songs and yells under the their versatile leader, Lawrence Piper.

Cliff Osterland, a Science man, was individual star of the meet, with 24 points to his credit, while Bright, of Law, with 16 points, and Barker, of Commerce, with 14 points, followed him in order.

The meet was replete with surprises and unearthed some good material for the coming inter-university meet on the 18th. Lundy, a Freshman, formerly of Victoria High, captured both the 100 and 220 yard dashes over the veterans of former years. Hughie Crawford, in the pole vault, and incidentally equalled the inter-university record of 10 ft. 1½ in.

In the women's events two Fresh Sophs, Miss Macmillan and Miss Nix sprung the surprises of the day, the latter winning the 100 yard dash against Varsity flash basketball forward, Frances Alexander, and last year's individual champion, Margaret Cooper.

Another feature of the meet were the events connected with initiation. In a game of sausage rugby, with a greased pig for the sausage, the overtown and resident Frosh came to a draw, with a Freshman at each of the pig's four legs. The flag rush, the closing events of the day, attracted great interest. The Frosh were successful in carrying their banner through the Soph line, but incidentally much blood was spilt in the process.

The Arts Faculty assumed the lead and held it from the first race on the program. In this event, the half-mile, Oke defeated Barker in an

ATHLETES ELECT NEW OFFICIALS

Three Vacancies on Athletic Association Executive Filled—Keith Muir New Vice-President

At a general meeting of the Athletic Association, held October 6th, in the Arts Building, four new officers were elected to the executive of the Association, three of these being appointed to fill vacancies created by the failure of certain of the officials elected last spring to return. All four officials were returned by acclamation, Keith Muir being elected vice-president of the Athletic Association, Mike Krause president of rugby, Terry Agnew chairman of inter-faculty hockey and D. P. McDonald chairman of baseball.

Keith Muir, a graduate of 1923, and now vice-president of the Association, was president of athletics for the year 1922-23. His executive ability and wide experience in basketball and rugby particularly will make him a valuable member of this year's executive.

Mike Krause, President of Rugby, was elected to fill the position left vacant by "Chief" Davis, who, elected last spring, was unable to return this year. Mike has spent four fruitful years at this institution, and should "know the ropes" when it comes to athletics, he having already acted on the Athletic Executive as chairman of baseball, while to his work as coach of the women's hockey team of 1923-24 is largely due their success. Furthermore, Mike's previous experience in inter-faculty rugby should be a valuable aid in discharging the arduous duties of a rugby president efficiently.

A "wee Scot," D. P. McDonald, will dole out the balls and bats when spring fever strikes the baseball enthusiasts six months hence. Dee P. was first thrust into the limelight as war goalie for Varsity's last year's equal champions, and later showed equal ability to picking off flies and scooping "hot ones." His enthusiasm should make next spring's baseball a success.

Terry Agnew, of rugby and hockey fame, will hold sway over next winter's inter-faculty hockey league. Inter-faculty hockey met with marked success last year, and with Terry at its head this year, it should have the efficient organization necessary to maintain its popularity.

exciting finish. The winner, who was trailing everyone else three hundred yards from the finish, made a tremendous spurt from that point which carried him to the tape, a winner by inches.

Bright reasserted his supremacy in the hammer throw, shot put and discus events. Osterland, however, proved a dangerous contender in each case. Rogers created no small stir when he outdistanced both Bright and Osterland in the javelin throw. This newcomer, who has already proved his worth as a real athlete, hurled his mighty spear 135 feet to win this event.

The hundred yard dash was won by Lundy, a Freshman from McDougall High school. Considering the nature of the day his time of 11 2-6 seconds is quite good. Lundy, Werthenbach, Ferguson and Powell were the finalists in the 220 yard dash. After a deplorable series of false starts, these sprinters supplied a real race, Lundy nosing out Werthenbach for a second win.

Baden Powell ran a pretty race for his victory in the 440 yard dash. He timed his final spurt to perfection and finished with a good lead and apparently in no distress.

Osterland, Allen and Duncan were the finalists in the hurdle event, and they finished in the order mentioned after a hard race. Barker added to his laurels by his strong win in the mile event, Johns and Hargreaves finishing in second and third places. Barker won an even more decisive victory in the gruelling three-mile event, leading at the finish by twenty yards. Hargreaves passed Johns to secure second place in this race.

The running broad jump went to Russell, who was forced to jump 19 feet 11 inches in order to beat Osterland and Werthenbach. Crawford and Osterland tied for first place in the high jump after a pretty three-cornered contest with Bassett. Crawford and Bassett supplied the crowd with more thrills in the pole vault, when both of them passed easily the existing inter-collegiate mark.

One of the most interesting events of Thursday's program was the Faculty walking race, which was won by Professor Newton, though Mr. Patton, who came second, got the prize—a pen-knife.

Hon. Perrin Baker, minister of education, and Mr. Love judged the contest, and on being interviewed regarding their unusual decision about the prize, had very little to offer in explanation.

It is thought, however, that Professor Newton was not awarded the prize because he failed to "heel and toe" over the whole course, his walk degenerating into a run as he neared the tape.

The women's fifty yard dash brought to light two very fleet sprinters from the ranks of the Freshettes. This event was won by Miss McMillan in the excellent time of 7 2-5 seconds. Miss Alexander and Miss Nix captured second and third places. The hundred yard final was run by the same three girls, but in this case the victory for the Freshettes was even more convincing, Miss Nix winning and Miss McMillan and Miss Alexander in second and third places. ### DRAMAT HOLDS FIRST MEETING

Two New Officers Elected—Freshmen Especially Invited to Attend Meetings

The Dramatic Society held its first meeting on Tuesday, October 7, in Room 139 Arts, at 4:30 p.m. The purpose of the meeting was to fill the offices left vacant by the non-return of Miss Dorothy Jessup and Mr. Rache Dickson. Miss Bertha McCallum was elected to the position of vice-president, and Mr. Kirley, by acclamation, to that of treasurer. The members of the executive are meeting this week to discuss plans for the coming season.

Now that the executive is again organized, the work of the year can be decided upon and notices of the monthly meetings will be posted as soon as possible.

The Dramat invites all students to become members, to attend the meetings and to participate in the plays. Freshman and Freshettes are especially invited.

HERBERT HEADS LIT.

Walter B. Herbert, B.A., has been elected president of the Literary Association by acclamation, was the announcement made by Secretary Mahaffy of the Students' Union, at noon today.

RUGBY ASPIRANTS WORK OUT DAILY

Big Turn-out For Senior Squad—Inter-Faculty League Begins Soon

Varsity's rugby prospects for provincial and inter-varsity competition appear brighter with every practice. The team will have speed, weight and experience and seems closer to a provincial championship than it has been for some years.

Nine of last year's squad are back, including Henderson and Thompson for the back-field and seven hefty linemen. Thompson is completely recovered from the injuries he received last season, while Henderson is punting them higher and farther than ever. It is unfortunate that McAllister, Leppard, Davies, Wrinch, Cassels, Bisset and the rest of last year's team are scattered. McAllister will be particularly hard to replace. "Spotsy" Leppard has gone to Queens, and will be missed in the back-field. Several of the new men are making strenuous bids for his position. Fans will miss the beautiful fifteen-foot drives of "Chief" Davis. His departure, with that of Bisset, Cassels and Macauley, leaves the team scarce of experienced men for the ends.

Many who expected to see the Savage-McNeil combination in action again may have their hopes only partly realized. They are now Calgary's pride in senior rugby circles. The showing of the Freshmen is inspiring considerable optimism. Many of the newcomers have played before, and handle the ball like veterans.

The most promising of these is Ken Rogers, incidentally the provincial junior tennis champion. He has played American rugby as quarter for Baltimore Tech, and may be used to fill Jack McAllister's berth. He is a sure tackler, a heady runner, has pretty fair weight and build and carries a doughty and well-educated toe.

Potter, Piper and Halliday, all from Calgary, are three other finds. Good runners and tacklers, they will be heard from this year. Another newcomer is Gus Runge, who has had rugby experience at Seona High School and Edmonton Normal. He is built like a line-smasher, carries the ball well, and tackles effectively. Lee Stuart is back to the squad after three years' absence, and may be seen at snap. Clarence Laverty, of last year's team, is another possibility for this berth. Agnew, Lefsrud, Selnes, McLaren, Gale, Backman, Stuart and Laverty are probable starters on the line, with Campbell, Mueller, O'Brien and some others as (Continued on page four)

FLAG RUSH TERMINATES SUCCESSFUL INITIATION

Initiation Ceremonies Meet With Marked Success—Innovations Prove Popular Among all Students—Initiation More Constructive Than in Former Years

"I was very much pleased with the improvement in this year's initiation," said Dr. H. M. Tory, President of the University, when asked by The Gateway for his opinion of the Sophomore's activities this year.

That the initiation was a distinct improvement over that of previous years, was the opinion expressed by Dr. J. M. MacEachern, Provost of the University. "While there is still something to be desired, I was well pleased on the whole with the way in which things were carried on this year," added the Provost.

"I noted particularly the good spirit which prevailed between the Freshman and Sophomore classes this year, and I was glad to see the former so well trained in the Varsity songs," was the observation of Dr. E. W. Sheldon, chairman of the Freshman Committee.

"I will let initiation speak for itself as to whether or not it has a place in our institutions," said President Levey, of the Students' Union. "If," he continued, "a general knowledge of the University songs, a knowledge of the Union constitution and the University itself is best obtained through initiation, it certainly has its place."

Initiation this year has been one of the most successful in the University's annals. Though pronounced "tame" by many who noted the absence of the street parade or gym performances of former years, it was certainly more constructive and at the same time lively enough to be interesting. The absence of certain of the crudities of former years should establish a good precedent for subsequent Soph classes to follow.

The acquaintance the Frosh made with the research and extension departments by their trips through these on Saturday last was a commendable feature. Also the training in the University songs and drill on the constitution should bear fruit.

The flag rush, the closing event of the ceremony, provided clean and exacting sport, and was a fitting substitute for the peanut rolling stunts of former years.

The ideas of what initiation means has in past years varied according to the class of person that has had the idea. A year or two ago the man of the street would have said that it meant a so-called street parade, not unlike a circus event, with a hundred or more besmeared young men walking down Jasper in their "nighties," and subsequently rolling peanuts with their noses or drinking milk with the aid of a nipple.

The Soph with the ordinary ounce of reflection would likely, if asked his idea, have smiled sardonically, and have expostulated on revenge, and muttered something about "an eye for an eye and tooth for a tooth." The Senior and Junior, if in an idealistic frame of mind, might have rehearsed the value of Frosh learning university traditions and finding early their humble place in this little universe of ours, but in the obvious absence of these ideals being anything but partially accomplished, would probably have ended by admitting that the only "kick" he got out of the ceremony was from the fun it provided.

The powers that be saw long ago the incongruity of this ceremony called initiation, and not wishing to have the provincial university regarded as either an advanced kindergarten or a home of vindictive horseplay, threatened to put the lid down tight and let the innocent Frosh pursue his normal course of life during his first two weeks without being initiated. These were the views after the series of initiations ending in 1923.

DR. TORY CONVALESCING

The University faculty and students will be glad to learn that President Tory is now at home, convalescing after his recent illness, and made his first appearance yesterday at the track meet. Dr. Tory recently underwent a minor operation at the University Hospital.

GLEE CLUB WILL MEET TUESDAY AT 7:15 P.M.

Last session, after a lapse of several years, the Glee Club was revived under the capable leadership of Mr. Nichols. Weekly practices were held which everyone enjoyed and benefited from, and in March the club made its first public appearance at the Lit. Musical Evening, and more than justified its existence. Following up this encouraging start, the Glee Club plans to start in early this session, holding the first meeting on Tuesday next, the 14th, at 7:15 p.m., in Room 158 Medical Building. The practice will be for one hour only, so that no student will be away from his beloved books for too long a period. Last year the average attendance exceeded forty, and this year it is hoped to reach sixty. Although Frank Halliday, P. D. Clarke, Pip Owen, Tanner and other of last year have gone, there are still a number of last year members who are keen to get going again, and a cordial invitation is extended to all interested students to attend on Tuesday evening. The Glee Club is very fortunate in again obtaining the services of Mr. Nichols as leader for this year, and under his capable direction not only valuable training, but also wholesome enjoyment, is in store for all the members.

SACRED RITES FOR FRESHETTES

They Enter Tribe of "Wauneta"—Find Initiation a Helpful Mode of Discipline

"Freshman Annie's come to Pembina to stay, To learn her French and Latin and mind the Soph's all day, To slick her hair behind her ears and make a Sophomore's bed, To wear her name upon her back and a mortar-board on her head."

We love the little freshies, but those we love must be humble, and humility comes through sorrow and hardships. So their sorrows begin. We fear the extreme airiness of their brains may carry away their heads. We give them square cardboard hats and green ribbons by means of which they are ordered to tie on their heads. But curly hair covering the ears hinders the knowledge-seeking freshette from hearing the words of wisdom which fall from that oracle, the Sophomore. Modesty falls before the vigorous onslaught of ambition. The freshettes uncover their ears! Their faces even are left bare that we may see them as they are, and judge their worthiness to become one of us. At our bidding they will even walk the goosetop on the campus, and eat their porridge, soup and beefsteak with a spoon.

But not yet is the tale told. The mighty tribe Wauneta extends its welcome to the freshies and an invitation to join the tribe. In joyful anticipation the innocent spirits flutter to Convocation Hall. Here the assembly is held.

"Ye, we will join," say the little ones. "Prove yourself a true brave and ye shall be as one of us," responds our glorious chief.

Blindfolded, for no stranger may see our sacred rites, they are called forth. They know not whither they go. Undaunted by the cold blasts, the unholy shrieks, the weird windings, they follow the Indian guide. They shoot the bumpy rapids, and so having learned the lesson of bravery they are once more allowed to don their war paint. They have learned that beauty is inherent—but may be applied. In their new-found beauty they are forced to jump the precipice. Here they learn that airiness of brain may be a defect and yet an advantage. The weighty brain of a Sophomore could not parachute like that of the light-headed freshette. If still uninjured they are allowed to pass over a thundering cavern, where the chains of Jack Horner clank forever. Thus they learn the lesson of unselfishness. By a series of sharp descents the young freshies reach the swimming pool. Here, on dry land, they swim and learn the lesson that one may take a daring plunge (Continued on page four)

ALBERTA SCHOLARS ARRIVE AT OXFORD

Cassels Takes Up Residence at Oriel College and McClung at Queens

Two more Alberta boys, John Cassels and Jack McClung, will join the Canadian group this year at Oxford, the former as this year's Alberta Rhodes scholar and the latter as the winner of the 1924 I.O.D.E. scholarship for this province.

Cassels sailed on September 21, by the C.P.S.S. Doric, and went into residence at Oriel College, Oxford, immediately upon his arrival in England. This college was the one attended by Cecil Rhodes himself, and is consequently very popular with the scholars whose attendance at Oxford has been made possible by his generosity. Cassels graduated from Alberta with honors in economics, and it is his intention to continue his studies in this subject at Oxford. He will always be remembered at Alberta as a brilliant student. His scholastic record all through school and university has been of the highest, while at the same time he has taken an active part in student affairs and athletics. He was at one time Editor-in-Chief of The Gateway, a member of the Varsity Debating team, and the senior rugby team, besides holding numerous lesser offices in student organizations.

Jack McClung, the winner of the scholarship awarded by the Independent Order of Daughters of the Empire, has taken up residence at Queens College, Oxford. The qualifications for this office are much the same as for the Rhodes scholarship. It is the value of $1,400, which is to be used in the study of some subject of imperial nature, at some English university of accredited standing. McClung is a graduate in Arts and in Law, and ranked among the best students in the University. By doubling up his work he was able last year to write off both his second and third years in law. Jack is a returned man, and has always occupied a prominent position in student affairs here. He also was at one time Editor-in-Chief of The Gateway, and last year was Chief Justice of the Students' Court. He has also held many other positions of responsibility in student organizations.

WAS IT WORTH WHILE?

It seems to be the general consensus of opinion that initiation has been a vast improvement on anything heretofore attempted in the University. While there are still some things to be desired, the authorities are more satisfied with the way things have been carried on this year than ever before, while the students are unanimous in their praise for the work of the initiation committee. It might be of value to briefly consider the reasons for the success of the Sophomore's program this year, and to attempt an estimate of its value.

Initiation is justified on but one ground, that it may give an instruction to the Freshmen in the traditions, spirit and nature of the University, and be for them a welcome to our ranks. While it is the only ground, it is none the less sufficient, but the argument that it affords an opportunity for some horseplay at the expense of the new students is no justification, and is not worthy of serious consideration. The authorities are right in demanding that something of real value result from this period of hazing, which tends to disturb scholastic work at the beginning of the term. Their demand was satisfied in this instance.

A new student should learn, among other things, that he is fresh to the University, and that he has a very great deal to learn here. Until he realizes this and begins to estimate his own importance here by University standards, he will not be in a position to benefit as he should from what he experiences at Varsity. In this respect the Sophomores left nothing to be desired in their humiliation of the Freshmen, but what is more to their credit they did it without fear or favor, and won both the respect and goodwill of the first year men. As little as possible of anything which might tend to lessen one's self-respect was indulged in, and having been treated as men, these students, now that initiation is over, will conduct themselves as men. It was a manly thing, for example, for the Sophomores to give the Freshmen, who outnumbered them at least three to one, an opportunity to show their colors in a rush on the grid yesterday. There is something childish and almost cowardly about the messing and bouncing and paddling that was carried on in the gymnasium in previous years. There was an almost complete absence of that type of thing this year.

Of greater importance is the fact that the Sophomores made a real attempt to teach the Freshmen something about the institution, its traditions, its student organizations and what Varsity spirit is. A tour of the buildings was carried out, an entertainment at an informal House dance was arranged, and instruction in the use of the song book was given at a bonfire and other rosters' practices. They even know something about the constitution of the Students' Union, and it would be safe to say that practically every Freshman knows the Varsity yell. These accomplishments are creditable, but what is of greatest importance is that Class '28 has caught the Varsity spirit. Anyone who has watched them is convinced of this, and we are entitled to believe that this is the result of the way in which the initiation program was carried out.

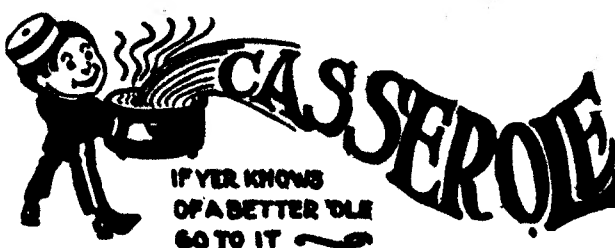

The Freshmen realize that they are entering a fine new democratic fellowship, in which wealth and social position are of no importance in the judgment of a man's worth; that the value of a man to his University and society as a whole is the criterion on which any judgment should be based; that character is the important thing; and that selfishness and scholastic inefficiency are incompatible with a high rating on such a criterion.

Initiation was by no means ideal, but if the Freshman class have so soon caught a glimpse of what, after all, is the greatest thing that they can hope to gain from this institution, character, it was worth while. We cannot help believing that they have.

THE OUTLINE

In another part of this issue will be found an article describing in a brief way the Students' Court, the House Committee and the organizations under the Students' Union. Charts have been used to further illustrate the relationship between these various organizations, and a careful study of these is recommended to every student of the University, particularly Freshmen. The names of the officers have also been given, so that the charts should serve a useful purpose as a directory of the Students' Council.

As a result of amendments to the constitution, which were passed last spring, some radical changes have taken place in the organization of some branches of the Students' Union. Changes, for example, were made in the Undergraduate Publications Act, and the article describing The Gateway is, of course, as the paper is now organized. Two new courts were also added at that time to our judicial system. Every student should understand this system, the relationship of the various courts and the rights of appeal from judgments of inferior courts, and be familiar with the working of the system. The chart and accompanying explanation makes this quite clear. It is hoped that all the valuable space taken for this article will not be wasted, but that the article will be carefully read, so that the information therein contained may be of some real value.

A hint to Freshmen:
"Late to bed and early to rise,
Makes the black rings under your eyes."

Another hint:
"He who laughs last is usually the dumbest."

After running around for twenty minutes in an effort to find room N 210, a freshman announced that he was beginning to realize the full significance of the phrase, pursuing an education."

Fresh law student, entering law library: "Where's the Queen's Bench?"
Senior law student: "Not so common, please."

Sprung: "I never know what to do with my week-end."
Dynamite: "Why not keep your cap on it?"

Barnum would be interested in the Pol. Econ. 66 class. There are nine girls in it, and only four have bobbed hair.

Cormack: "I wonder what makes my hair so thick."
Barber: "It must be this going around with your head so much."

One of our newly-weds approached a friend in the common-room the other day, and said: "Lend me a dollar for a month old boy." Now, what the deuce does a month old boy want a dollar for?

Betty: "You are smoking a terrible lot of cigarettes."
Jimmy: "I can't afford any others. I have too many friends."

Freshman: "Does this Miss Dodds object to kissing?"
Co-ed: "I don't know. Why don't you try her?"

Freshman: "How often do you kill a man in initiation?"
Soph: "Just once."

Poem dedicated to freshmen:
Oh, they all can be gay in their sweeties' coupé,
In a taxi they all can be jolly;
But the girl worth while is the one with a smile
When he's taking her home on a trolley.

Whitford has switched from honors in Latin to Classical Greek. He denies that the best example of Greek art is a display of polished apples in a fruit store window.

Bill Bloor, the great Commoner, still tells the yarn about the cannibal who ate a Bolshevik and got scarlet fever. Med students scoff at the idea, and say there is no psychozokuem. Law students state that there is no chain of causation, although the meal was ex delicto.

Two fleas were talking in the zoo.
"Join me in a game of golf tomorrow."
"Where?"
"Oh, over the lynx."

The recent excavations in Italy uncovered a tablet inscribed, "Ex nihil, nihil fit," which being translated into the vernacular means, "You can't take the breeches off a Highlander."

In 1620 the Pilgrims crossed the ocean. This is known as the Pilgrim's Progress.

The experts tell us that the average girl has a vocabulary of only 500 words. It's a small stock, friends, but think of the turnover.

"Why, Aubrey, what happened to you in the rugby game yesterday? You've lost all your front teeth."
"No, I haven't. Here they are in my handkerchief."

Harrison: "I would like to see something cheap in a hat."

We heartily recommend that all freshmen should read "Finis." It's the last word in books.

CONGRATULATIONS, SOPHOMORES

Congratulations are due the Initiation Committee of the Sophomore Class for the way in which their program was organized and carried out this year. The value was plainly shown of selecting a chairman of the committee who had the strength of will to carry out the hazing regardless of the protestations of those whose sole object was to have some fun at the expense of the Freshmen. Initiation should have a deeper significance and purpose than that, and those in charge of the proceedings are to be especially congratulated for the far-sighted and sensible program which they adopted. They were breaking new ground, and naturally it met with the opposition of those who failed to see the fundamental purpose of it all. That they were able to overcome this and stage an initiation that will ultimately meet with universal approval is commendable.

APROPOS

The next issue of The Gateway will appear on Friday afternoon or Saturday morning next week, and will take the form of a welcome to the visiting track teams.

The Gateway will have a fully organized staff before the next issue, when the remaining appointments will be made. A meeting of Freshmen interested in newspaper work will be held the following week, but any of the new students who have had previous experience and would like to get a start on the others should report at The Gateway office, 151 Arts, on Monday or Tuesday next.

NEW ADVERTISING SERVICE PROVIDED

Gateway Arranges Among Advertisers for Special Consideration for Varsity Students

The Gateway this year has adopted a new advertising policy. This policy has been framed with two objects in view. One of these is to provide a reliable shopping guide for Varsity students, and the other is to encourage students, once this guide is provided, to patronize those merchants who advertise in The Gateway.

This year advertising has only been accepted from firms of unquestionable standing. In every case special arrangements have been made to see that Varsity students get particular attention and service. Some of the advertisers offer special prices and discounts to Gateway readers. All that is necessary is that the students mention the fact that they are from Varsity. The merchants cannot be expected to recognize them otherwise.

Every advertiser has been given a card bearing the University crest, which states that he is an advertiser in The Gateway, and his store is recognized by the paper as being a thoroughly reliable one. Most of the advertisers are displaying this card in their windows.

The Gateway depends a great deal upon the advertisements which it receives, to support it. In providing this service this year the business management are trusting that the students will support them in their efforts to improve the paper and its usefulness in the University, by patronizing those who advertise in its columns. Consult The Gateway before buying.

FOUR TEAMS FOR FACULTY RUGBY

League Will Open Next Week—Managers Specially Invite Turn-Out of New Students

Inter-faculty rugby, the most popular of fall intra-university sports, will begin about Wednesday or Thursday of next week, in preparation for which beginning representatives of the four teams that will take part in the inter-faculty league have been chosen.

Nate Flater will marshal the Med-Dent-Pharmacy outfit; Jim Mahaffy the Law-Commerce aggregation, while Jack Lehman is the organizer for men in Arts and the first three years of combined courses. The appointment of the Ag-Sci rep. will be made very soon.

The members of the senior team will not, as first supposed, take part in inter-faculty rugby. However, the inter-faculty league offers a splendid opportunity for an aspiring husky or speed merchant to learn the game and qualify for a step upward into the senior class later. Furthermore, the Varsity grid is perhaps the best in the province, and offers a further inducement for new members wishing to be initiated into the game to turn out.

Alberta athletes broke three records last year. Cannot they go one better this?

RUGBY PLAYER INJURED

An unfortunate accident occurred on the rugby field last Tuesday, when C. M. Laverty, a Junior, and last year's star line plunger on the Arts faculty rugby team, had his collar bone broken in a scrimmage. "Lav" was acting as lineman on the second team at the time, when he was hit by one of Varsity's star "heavies" and temporarily laid out. He subsequently received medical attention from Dr. Scott, and is able to continue lectures.

Potter, another rugby candidate, also received minor injuries, being cut over the eye in a scrimmage.

TOURNAMENT HAS BIG ENTRY LIST

Tennis Draws Posted—Inter-Faculty and Inter-Varsity Tennis Mooted

With a large entry list, the annual tennis tournament got away to a good start on Monday. The list of draws is posted in the Arts Building. Address or phone number of all entrants is given on the draw, making it possible for easy arrangement of games. Tournament games have preference over all others. This will make it possible to play all games in the time allowed on the draw. All games not played in that time must be forfeited. Your co-operation is asked in helping to make the tournament a success.

An inter-faculty tournament will be arranged next week. Each faculty is asked to pick a team of two men and hand the names into Mr. F. W. Paterson, at Room 307 Athabasca Hall, or leave same at post office.

If arrangements can be made an inter-varsity tournament will be played later on. Announcement will be made later.

N.B.—Students' Court is the Court of the Students' Union, enforcing the laws of that body.

One of the most distinctive features of the University of Alberta, and one of which its students are most proud, is the form of student government, the smooth working of which has, in large part, accounted for the success of student activities in this University.

The activities of a student during his term at University may be divided generally into two divisions—his studies and his student activities, both of which are educational. For the latter activities, giving him as they do an opportunity to "seek out the cheerful haunts of men," foster the development of his personality, just as the former enables the development of his reasoning powers.

But these important activities, both athletic and literary, are under the control of the Students' Union, so that an intelligent understanding of our system of government is obviously essential, if the achievements of former years are to be sustained and augmented. In the outline and chart given below, The Gateway has endeavored to give its readers, especially those who are newcomers in our midst, a better understanding of this system of government comprehended under the general name of Students' Union. The chart should also function as a source of reference as regards the various clubs and their officers.

The Students' Union

All registered students who have paid their Student Union fees are members of this body, and are entitled to all the privileges, in both literary and athletic activities, that it offers. The general meetings of the Students' Union are held from time to time, and here all legislation originates, except that which may be recommended to the Students' Union by the Committee on Student Affairs. After legislation is passed by the Union it must be approved by the Committee on Student Affairs, and finally by the President of the University, after which it becomes law enforceable under the Students' Court.

The funds on which the Students' Union operates are mainly derived from the Student Union fee of seven dollars paid by each full time student on registration. Furthermore, gate receipts received by athletic or literary organizations under the Students' Union, as well as fines collected by the Students' Court, are put into the hands of the Treasurer, who turns them over to the Bursar to be added to the general fund of the Union under the charge of the latter official.

The Finances
On or before the 15th of November of each year the treasurer, after receiving the estimates of the various organizations and framing his budget, brings the latter before a general meeting of the Students' Union for its approval. The various clubs are then in a position to carry on their activities on a scale commensurate with their funds at hand.

According to the new central check system this latter official, the central check, has a record of the money available for each organization, and must check all requisitions for supplies before any of the latter are purchased. After his approval a requisition for payment of accounts are in order, and are submitted to the treasurer, who may submit them to the Bursar, the "banker" of the Union, for payment. Thus, though the system is rather complicated, there are practically no loopholes left for careless financing and for any club making unauthorized purchases.

Students' Council

This body may be likened in part to the cabinet of a provincial or dominion government, with the President of the Students' Union at its head, and each of the five principal departments shown in the chart represented by their presidents and secretaries. There are also included the vice-president, secretary and treasurer of the Students' Union, as well as two representatives of men's athletics and two representatives of the "Lit." appointed to the Council in October. The honorary president at the first meeting of these bodies of the Students' Union is the final member of the Council, who, by being a member of the Senate and Board of Governors also, acts as a point of contact between these two governing bodies of the University and the executive of the Student body.

Committee on Student Affairs

The Students' Council, comprising as it does the executive of the Students' Union, must be looked to for the introduction of the most important legislation before the Students' Union. Final authority, however, rests theoretically with the President of the University, but practically with the Committee on Student Affairs. This body (see p. 11 of Calendar for its constitution) is a most representative one, made up as it is of representatives of both the Board of Governors and the Senate, the Deans of the Faculties and the most important officers of the Students' Union, besides the Provost and Adviser of Women Students.

Major Student Organizations

The Men's Athletic Association, divisions of which are indicated on the chart below, was created by the "Athletic Association Act," some interesting provisions of which are noted here. The officers of the various divisions of sport under this Association are elected in the spring just prior to the close of the term.

Section V, subsec. 5, of the act, makes it an offence to indulge in the use of alcoholic liquors or to bacco during the playing season. All members "who intend to engage in violent or strenuous athletic contests must pass a physical examination at the beginning of the academic year." Section VI provides for a system of decorations ranging from the nine-inch championship special "A" to the smaller green and gold shields, all of which represent some form of achievement by the holder, either in the way of representing the University on a team, or winning individual distinction in one of the various lines of sports (see Constitution of the Students' Union).

The athletic banquet at the end of the term is an event eagerly looked forward to by sport enthusiasts, representing as it does the summing up of the year's activities and the presentation of trophies and decorations to the successful ones.

The Literary Association, the President and Secretary of which are elected at the general Students' Union elections in the spring, is comprised of four main clubs. The "Dramat," the principal of these, holds meetings according to a definite schedule throughout the year, and in addition has much to do with the year plays competition, put on among the four classes, Freshman, Sophomore, Junior and Senior, in the latter part of November. In addition to this competition, which gives a great opportunity for the unearthing of dramatic talent, there is a larger play staged in the second term, the cast of which is picked from the student body in general. Any one who wishes to try is welcomed at the tryouts for these plays.

Debating met with marked success last year, with the introduction of inter-faculty debating and the winning of the inter-university debating trophy by the team from Alberta. The meetings of this society are held every Monday; membership is open to all, those desirous of developing the art of public speaking being sure to find an opportunity here for exercising what talents they have in that respect.

The Glee Club, revived last year, had a very successful year under its new leader, Mr. Nichols. Meetings are held weekly, everyone is welcome, and all music is supplied without charge.

Just at the athletes wind up their season with a banquet, the "Lit." terminates its program with a "feast of fun" in the form of a "Lit" night. The Glee Club orchestra are usually quite prominent in this program, the latter organization, last year under the direction of Mrs. Carmichael, being composed of twenty-one members, practically all of whom were students of the University. To the orchestra any one who plays an instrument is especially welcome.

The Gateway

The Gateway is the newspaper published by the Students' Union, and is one of the most important of its organizations. The paper is published weekly, usually on Wednesdays. Two dollars of every seven dollar Students' Union fee paid to the Bursar goes to the upkeep of this paper, and gives each person paying this fee the right to one copy of every issue. This, with other subscriptions and the money received from advertising, makes the paper self-supporting.

The Editor-in-Chief is the chief executive officer and exercises general supervision over all departments of the paper. He is appointed by the Students' Council, and holds office during the calendar year. The Business Manager, appointed by the Editor-in-Chief with the approval of the Students' Council, holds office during the academic year, and is in charge of the business, financial, advertising and circulation departments. Both of these officers are members of the Students' Council, and make all other necessary appointments to the staff.

The third officer of importance is the Associate Editor, who is more directly in charge of the editorial department. He works in co-operation with the Managing Editor, who is in charge of the technical make-up of the paper. The Sporting Editor, while responsible to the Associate Editor, is allowed a great deal of freedom in his work, and edits his own page usually without consultation or instruction. The other editors work largely under the direction of the Associate.

The paper is printed by the University Press, which is located in the basement of the Arts Building.

The Gateway offers a splendid opportunity for training to those who are interested in journalism, either from the editorial or managerial point of view. Freshmen and others will be heartily welcomed, and are assured that they can find no more interesting and valuable experience than that which they would acquire in this field of their activities. It is expected that lectures will be given during the fall by newspaper men and members of the faculty to the staff, and as soon as an amendment to the constitution can be prepared, it is practically certain that awards of "Literary A" pins will be authorized for those who have shown a certain degree of proficiency in their work on The Gateway. While previous newspaper experience and a literary aptitude are very great assets they are not essential, as The Gateway aims at giving this training itself.

The publications office is in the north end, main floor, Arts Building, Room 151.

Women's Organizations

The principal of these is the Wauneita Society, to which all women students of the University are entitled to membership. The larger social functions of this organization are the general convales, held during the third week in October, and the reception to the women students of the matriculating high school classes in the spring of each year.

The Wauneita Council is perhaps next to the executive the most important body of the society, its function being "to give counsel and advice and to exercise general supervision over the conduct of the members of the Wauneita Society." The law enforced by the Council is known as "University Common Law," on which the Council puts its own interpretation according to the circumstances of the case.

The constitution of the Women's Athletic Association is much similar to that of the men's as regards constitution. Any woman student is a member, and is entitled to full privileges. The association has met with marked success in the last few years, especially in hockey and basketball, both of these University teams having scored marked successes in city and inter-university competitions.

THE STUDENTS' COURT

We are to a large degree a self-governing community of students. We legislate and regulate as does any other democratic organization, and as a necessary consequence we must carry out our legislation and enforce our regulations. To do this, a judicial system has been devised by means of which the students discipline themselves.

According to the University Act, which is the constitution of the University of Alberta, the Senate has been given the duty of maintaining discipline and regulating the conduct of the student body. By resolution of the Senate this duty has been passed on to the Committee on Student Affairs. This body then delegated most of this judicial authority to the Students' Court and the Wauneita Council, and other subordinate courts exist under these courts.

The Senate, which is the supreme authority in all matters of student discipline, consists of the Chancellor, the Chairman of the Board of Governors, the President, the heads of affiliated colleges, the deans and other representatives of the faculties, the Vice-Chancellor, the senior principal of the Provincial Normal schools, the Deputy Minister of Education, representatives of the professional societies, and ten representatives of Convocation. The Senate is the final court of appeal.

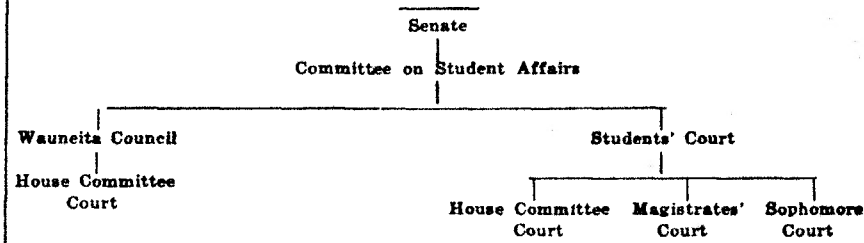

The Committee on Student Affairs is perhaps the most important body in the whole University; for all acts of student organizations are subject to its approval, and it is here that the most vital questions affecting the University and its relation to the student body are discussed and decided. Its chairman is the President, and it is made up of the Chancellor, the Chairman of the Board of Governors, the Provost, the adviser to women students, two representatives of the Senate, the deans, and eight students. These students are the heads of the most important of the student organizations. They are:

The President of the Students' Union, the Editor-in-Chief of The Gateway, the President of the Athletic Association, the President of the Literary Association, the President of the Wauneita Society, and three members elected by the Students' Council.

PRESENT TROPHIES TO TRACK VICTORS

On Thursday evening, in the lounge of Pembina, a presentation of the miniature Bakewell cup, emblematic of the individual championship for women's track events, was made to Miss MacMillan, a member of the Soph team, who won the trophy with a total of eleven points. Miss Buckley, with a total of ten points, gave Miss MacMillan a close race for this honor.

The presentation of the large Bakewell trophy was made to Miss Shillington, captain of the Sophomores, the class that succeeded in defeating the Seniors by a margin of seven points.

Much of the success of the women's events at the track meet Thursday can be attributed to Miss Bakewell, who was a former president of Women's Athletics here, and as director of physical education has done much to stimulate women's athletics in this University. The trophies, originally offered for competition by her, have added great zest to the competition in Women's track events.

AGRICULTURAL CLUB MEETING

The Ag. Club will commence its activities for the season with a business meeting on Friday next, the 10th, at 4:40 p.m. Considerable business, including nominations for vacant offices, and plans for what is hoped to be the most successful season in the history of the club, has to come before the members. Every member of the Ag. Faculty is expected at Room 244, Agricultural Building, at the hour named.

A BRIEF OUTLINE OF OUR STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

infractions of discipline among the women students, while the Women's House Committee deals more particularly with offenses which occur in residence. A right of appeal from decisions of these bodies to the Committee on Student Affairs is provided for.

The Students' Court, which is the most important of these judicial bodies as far as the men are concerned, is presided over by a Chief Justice and two puisne judges. The Chief Justice must be a graduate of the University and a student-at-law, and is elected by the Union. The two puisne judges are appointed by the Students' Council from different faculties. A right of appeal exists here also from judgments of this court to the Committee on Student Affairs.

Any of the justices of the Students' Court may hear cases of a minor nature, as magistrates, sitting alone, and award suitable punishment. The House Committee, while sitting as a court, has similar jurisdiction in minor offenses. In addition to these courts there is a Sophomore Court, presided over by a magistrate who is a second year student. The court has jurisdiction over Freshmen and Sophomores in minor offenses, involving usually a matter of tradition, ungentlemanly conduct, etc. Appeals may be taken from any of these courts to the Students' Court.

The Union Prosecutor and the Sheriff conduct all prosecutions in the Students' Court, and the latter is chief constable for the Union.

The Provost is the chief disciplinary officer of the University, and exercises general supervision over all students, especially those in residence. He is a member of the faculty, and is appointed by the Senate.

THE HOUSE COMMITTEE

The conduct of all students in residence is subject to the authority of the House Committee, which is entrusted with very full jurisdiction in this matter. The committee has power not only to regulate, but also to inflict punishment where breaches of discipline occur.

The committee consists of the Provost, the Advisor to the Women Students and two senior students from each hall. Under this general committee a sub-committee is in more direct charge of the women students in Pembina Hall. The four men representing Athabasca and Assiniboia Halls also form a sub-committee which more directly supervises the conduct of the men in residence. Each of these sub-committees has disciplinary powers. The latter may, while sitting as a court, impose appropriate punishment or a fine not in excess of five dollars, for minor infractions of discipline. A right of appeal to the Students' Court is given from decisions of this sub-committee.

The chairman of the Men's Committee is Greg. Crawford, and the secretary Syd. Stephens. Owing to the fact that one of the other two, John Claxton, is not returning this year, and that the fourth member, Chas. Richert, will not be in residence, an election must be held to fill these vacancies. The chairman of the Women's Committee is Miss Edith Hamilton.

All complaints in regard to meals, service, noise and other things pertaining to residence life should be addressed to a member of the House Committee, whose duty it is to take immediate action on receipt of such a complaint.

The House Committee is not an organization under the Students' Union, but is entirely separate, and elected only by the students in residence.

ARTS WIN CLOSE CONTEST IN INTER-FACULTY MEET

The shot put was won by Miss Cooper, but she was forced to put the weight more than twenty-one feet before she defeated Miss B. Mahaffy and Miss McLachy. The basketball throw was won by Miss McLachy, with a mighty throw of nearly sixty-two feet. Miss Farnalls was second and Miss Cooper third.

Miss Buckley won the broad jump with a splendid leap of 12 feet 10 inches. Miss MacMillan and Miss Nix won second and third places with jumps well over the twelve-foot mark. Miss Buckley was also the winner in the running high jump, with Miss Nicholls and Miss Farnalls not far behind.

It would be unjust to close this account without some mention of the gallant efforts of a domesticated pig to escape the clutches of some two hundred Freshmen. This artful dodger eluded lunge after lunge and tackle after tackle in the most spectacular fashion, and it was not until practically all its pursuers were at the point of complete exhaustion that this heroic pig—now, I fear, quite lean—finally yielded to fearful odds and surrendered its liberty.

PRIZE FOR BEST STUDENT PAPER

Science Club Propose This As Stimulus — Banquet and Undergrad Considered

A business meeting of the Engineering Students' Society was held on Oct. 8. The following officers were elected to complete the executive: First year rep., H. Ainsworth; Gateway rep., M. Gale; Rugby rep., C. Laverty; Soccer rep., G. Knighton; Hockey rep., W. Lawton.

Two suggested changes in the constitution were read, and will be posted and voted on at the next meeting. In order to encourage the giving of student papers, it was suggested that a prize be offered for the best one given in the year.

After much grave deliberation over menus and prices, it was decided to hold the banquet at the Macdonald Hotel on November 7. A programme committee was then elected, consisting of Messrs. Muir, James and Underwood.

A committee to handle the Undergrad Dance was left until the next meeting, pending final word from the President of the Students' Union.

ARTS FACULTY HIKES TO WHITEMUD CREEK

One Hundred and Fifty Students Gather Around Bonfire and Hot Dog Roast

Arts stole a march on all the other faculties of the University on Monday night by bringing off the first University function of the season in the shape of a hike to White Mud Creek and a hog dog roast there.

More than a hundred and fifty members of the faculty made the hike to the creek and to the big bonfire there that acted as a beacon to the party as soon as they entered the river valley.

At the site of the roast the Arts Club executive had labored all the afternoon to pile up enormous logs in a huge pyre that was to signalize the utter extinction of the fifty yard chain of hot dogs, obtained for the occasion.

The first of the hikers arrived at the bonfire at 8:30 in the evening, an hour after the hike officially started from in front of the residences. The vanguard was followed in a few minutes by the rest of the body, and within a few minutes the clearing around the blazing bonfire was completely filled.

Rations of coffee, dogs and buns were served out immediately, and Jean McLennan then led the singing of the Arts Club songs that had been compiled during the summer.

Dean Kerr, honorary president of the Club, made a short speech, in which he expressed his extreme gratification that the oldest faculty in the University of Alberta, and for that matter anywhere else, had at last organized, and expressed his confidence that the faculty of which he was the head would more than hold its own now in all the branches of University activity.

He concluded his speech with a complimentary reference to the song sheet just issued by the Arts Club, and was followed by Don Ramsay, president of the club, who, in a few words, outlined the purpose of the Arts Club, which was to make the oldest faculty in the University take its rightful place in the University sports and social activities.

More songs and yells from the cheer sheet followed the speakers, and a case of apples was passed around, shortly after which the party broke up, as the hour was getting very late.

But their education is considered complete. The freshie, what is left of her, emerges from the torture chamber. Slowly the shrieks die away.

No longer blindfolded, the little Annie enters the Assembly to the steady beat of the tom-tom. The tom-tom ceases and in silence they take their oaths and receive their tokens of membership.

A true Indian feast of lemonade and cookies follows. The new braves eat with gusto these unaccustomed viands. In consideration of their youth they are given each a rare Indian delicacy, a lollipop.

The reign of the Sophomore is over. Freshettes, we greet you as friends.

should initiate the Freshman into the spirit of fellowship and co-operation which is a fitting introduction to the institution he will ultimately reverence as his alma mater.

On Saturday last the Frosh were escorted through the various departments of the university where, among other things, they were made acquainted with the services their university is performing for the people of the province in the way of research and extension work. On Tuesday they were catechized on the Students' Union Constitution, a document which has in the past been revered so much as to become moth-eaten, and whose study would, through no special fault of their own, perhaps benefit the questioners almost as much as the questioned. Furthermore, the review of the new song book, which was completed the same night, should bear fruit at the coming track meets and rugby events, where cheering has its practical results. Perhaps the "rah-rah" spirit of Alberta can be revived with the newly-awakened enthusiasm of the Freshmen as a stimulant.

ends in the limited time at his disposal. While the seniors are occupying the "middle ring," the Inter-faculty League must not be forgotten. Last year over eighty men took part who would not have otherwise been able to play. Members of the senior team are barred, so everyone is given a chance. The suggestion that this rule be changed is not likely to be followed.

Last year the league consisted of the Med-Dents, Arts, Agriculture-Science and Law-Commerce teams. The latter won the competition from the Meds after a close race. All the games were close and some fine rugby was dished up. This should be repeated. Outfits are supplied free. The fellows are on their toes already, and practice will start this week. Watch the boards.

It was necessary for the previous administration to close the books on March 31st, 1924, in order that the annual financial statement might be given the students. The surplus then on hand was $1,368.90. Since then, however, outstanding accounts and obligations have reduced this total to $765.98, some of the larger deductions being: Bonus Ladies' Basketball trip, $100.00; Jack Buchanan, athletic services, $100.00; and Athletic Banquet, $101.00.

Outstanding accounts yet unpaid amount to $20.38, leaving a final balance to the new administration of $745.60. Of this latter amount $300.00, representing the Surplus Fund Account, has been invested in Provincial Saving Certificates, while the remainder stands to the credit of the Students' Union General.
